MAC MISSES MARK

Aggies Lose to Bishops 14-9

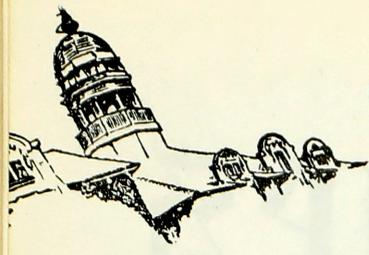

The Macdonald College Aggies' attempt to win their first championship in eight years was foiled last Saturday by a definitely aroused Bishop squad. Although Macdonald had a good majority of the play they didn't have it when it counted the most.

During the first quarter the Aggies received the kick-off and marched down the field to the Gaiter twenty-five yard line. Their offensive attack then bogged down, as it did for most of the afternoon, and they were forced to settle for a single Mac didn't lose from a lack of support. point kicked by team captain Bob Hamilton. Throughout the rest of the first quarter the Gaiters were bottled up in their own zone but the Aggie twelve could not seem to capitalize when they had the ball within scoring distance of the Bishop team.

The story was much the same in the second quarter. Bishop Gaiters were held scoreless, while Mac, after several fine chances for the major score, only were able to come up with another single on a lofty punt by Hamilton. The half time score then ended with the Mac Aggies holding a slim lead of two points.

During the last half the members of both teams seemed to settle down with the knowledge that the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference Championship was only thirty minutes from being decided. Bishops received the kick off and within minutes had scored the first major of the ball game to take the lead six to two. The Gaiters found a weakness through the Aggies centre and continually gained precious yards by using

Like an old car with a recently installed new engine, Mac's Football Team displayed amazing hidden potentials this year. Once considered as merely another member of the competition and being nothing to fear, they switched the tables and with renewed zest and determination marched into second place, barely missing the championship. Seeing this marked improvement in their team, Mac fans gave their full support. They crowded the station to greet the victorious Aggies back from C.M.R. They thronged the bleachers to watch the at-home games. They migrated 'en masse' to Bishop's, and though Mac was defeated in the first game there, the crowds were even larger on the second trip to Bishops.

Nor were these rabid fans there because they were asked to be

RE ARTICLES TO THE FAILT-YE

The Failt-Ye Times maintains its policy of withholding all unsigned articles, especially letters to the Editor or articles expressing opinions, from being published. This policy was stated in the fourth issue of this volume of the Failt-Ye Times, but it is obvious that many of our readers did not see this notice or else feel that the Editors have not been adhering to this rule. Letters or other articles will be published with pseudonyms if the author or authors so desire, but the original article MUST be signed by the author, or else the article can be delivered in person to any member of the Failt-Ye Times Staff.

Anyone, therefore, who has recently written to this paper using a pseudonym, and who would still like to see his or her article printed is asked to contact the Editor as soon as possible, or submit a signed copy of the article.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
Failt-Ye Times,
Macdonald College, Quebec.

Dear Sir:-

Until Saturday I was proud to say to anyone that I went to "Mac". Now I could not do so in the company of anyone who witnessed the drunkenness, foul language, insults and fighting that occurred on the Bishop's trip Saturday. Although I thought that I shared the opinion of many, it now appears that my thoughts of good clean college spirit are somewhat quaint and naive. A football game is now only an excuse to get drunk and have a fight.

The rivalry that has developed between Mac and Bishop's has gone far enough, if not too far. A sincere apology is owed to the Bishop's student who suffered the unfortunate mishap early Saturday morning. Our "bit of fun-raising" has passed the point of being fun. It has reached the stage of being serious. Surely we should stop now before authorities deem it necessary to force us to stop.

Do not think that I am trying to exonerate Bishop's. Never have I seen such a poor display of sportsmanship. I feel that they owe us an apology for the disgraceful reception that our fans and players received. Anyone expects razzing but the display of taunts and foul language that we received from fans and players alike has gone far beyond what one could call "college spirit".

I believe that we should "call it a day". Let us both make a fresh start.

Sincerely,

The Editor,
Failt-Ye Times,
Macdonald College.

Dear Sir:

In the excerpts from the Students' Council Meeting, as reported in the Failt-Ye Times of Nov. 16th, 1956, it was stated, among other things, and I quote:- "A second request from I.V.C.F. for funds was turned down by the Council for several outstanding reasons, one of which is the fact that it is, primarily, a Christian fellowship and all our students who pay fees are not Christians and should not have their money used this way."

It is to be regretted that the "several outstanding reasons" could not have been included in the report, as it leaves one to conclude that the reason stated was the most "outstanding". It is inconceivable that such a reason for denying the I.V.C.F.'s request would be presented by the responsible governing students' body and one would hope it is a misunderstanding of the expressed views of the Council or, perhaps, the work of the "Printer's Devil".

If the report is indeed factual then it raises an issue of prime importance and poses a few pertinent questions - 'Is the I.V.C.F. a recognized students' activity? Are its members students of the college who pay activity fees? Is its membership comprised of individuals who are not duly registered students? Do all students who pay activity fees participate in one and the same form of student activity?

If the answers to the first two questions are in the affirmative, it would be rather difficult to reconcile the stand taken with the fact that on entrance, the new student is handed a "Students Handbook" wherein are contained different student activities from which it is presumed a desired choice can be made. The last question arises as a direct suggestion from the report as quoted and if the answer to this question is in the negative, the further question arises as to the reason for evident discrimination.

Under those circumstances, it is to be hoped that the report as read was really a misrepresentation of the true facts. If not, the decision appears to be a non-recognition of the unalienable right of the individual within a democratic institution to freedom of choice or may be in this particular instance, "the persecution of the Christians".

This matter seems worthy of deeper consideration than superficially appears and through you, Mr. Editor, some clarification would be greatly appreciated.

Yours truly,

E. R. Samuels.

LIT. AND DEB. NEWS

Do you remember the committee that I mentioned, last week, that was in the process of being set up, for the purpose of helping struggling clubs and forming new ones? Well it is going ahead with leaps and bounds. A list has been posted in the Foyer and we hope you will look at it and give the committee your whole-hearted support. There are some good ideas there and the committee is a very capable one, but to succeed it needs your support.

The McGill Choral Society is to be invited to Mac on their annual visit again this year. Allan Palmer is to be in charge and has set the concert, tentatively, for Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1956.

K.G. Robinson and Eric Samuels went into Loyola last week as Macdonald's representatives to the Inter-Varsity Drama League meeting there. They reported that they were very impressed with the gathering and will give a full report next week. We'll keep you up to date on what Mac is doing in this field.

The Christmas Party Committee is under way, with Ruth McConnel at the helm. This party will be held on the last Sunday that we are here before the holidays. The Christmas party is a traditional affair and is attended by all. If I were you, I would mark it on the calendar so you won't forget. Fun and merriment is the rule for the night, with carols, readings and even Santa, with his generous bag of presents. We'll see you there!

A budget report was heard at this meeting, and the impression the executive got was that of a well-budgeted and well-handled treasury. A vote of congratulations for the treasurer.

Well Winter Carnival time is rolling around again, so Don Wood was appointed the Lit and Deb rep. to the Committee. There will be no news about this for some time but when there is you'll hear of it.

See you at Lit. & Deb. next week!

EXCERPTS FROM THE STUDENTS' COUNCIL

The meeting held Monday night was uneventful with relatively little real argument of any sort and thus much was accomplished in a short time.

I mentioned the fact that the Poppy Drive was very successful this year. The profits amounted to $59.29. It doesn't look like much but it is a record for Mac.

Evidently the W.U.S.C. Treasure Van was so successful here in other years that they have asked to be allowed to come this year for an extended time. This was approved and the Van will be here December 10 - 12/56.

A directory of all students under McGill is, or will be available at Mac for the modest sum of 30 cents. It might be worthwhile getting one of these while they are around.

A letter will be sent to Bishops congratulating them on their winning the conference championship. A good gesture if I may be so bold as to say so.

It was decided that the Clan Macdonald this year will be sold at $2.00 a copy and that the Failt-Ye Times will be available to those not paying activity fees at $1.00 per year.

The Fencing Club constitution was approved at this meeting after being referred back to the club for revision a number of times.

A discussion club is to be formed under Lit and Deb. It came up in this meeting and was referred to them. Its purpose is to be a discussion of world problems and how to improve them. It has been felt for sometime that this sort of thing should be found at Mac.

Dear Sir:

We, the members of the Men's Athletics Executive wish to express our sincere thanks to all the organizations who contributed to the success of the Football and Soccer season. We feel that the renewed interest in these sports this year, is a direct result of your co-operation and assistance in making the season the success that it was.

This renewed spirit has greatly encouraged the Athletic Association and there is no doubt that with continued and increased interest next year, even greater success will be realized.

Sincerely,

The Members of the M.A.A.

"JUST CHADDING"

Chad was downtown the other night in the rendezvous of the lovers of the finer things of life. He tells me that he was startled out of his contemplations by a very well known voice around this campus and on looking up observed our beloved Dean expounding a few of his ideas on the T.V. Chad tells me that he was in entire agreement with H.G.'s viewpoint and wishes this conveyed to him. Congratulations to you, Sir! There are not many things with which Chad is in agreement.

Whilst sipping a cup of coffee and eating a tomato sandwich in the Coffee Shop the other night, Chad tells me he was extremely startled to see the honourable Director of Publications approaching with a girl on one arm and a blanket on the other. Thomas.....!

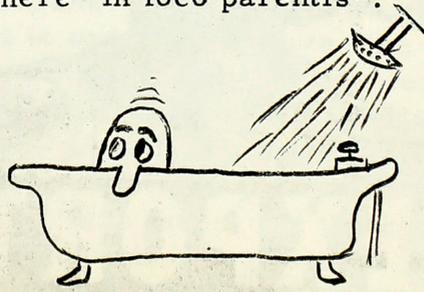

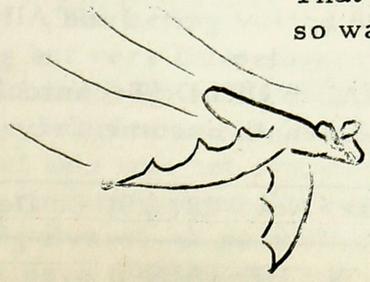

It appears, according to Chad, that Eric Armstrong is in bad trouble these days. Apparently a watchman was cruising along the basement of the Main building last week when he was halted in his tracks by a horrible scream from the Lit and Deb studio. On entering he found the culprit and a young lady, who was obviously in the last stages of desperation. Eric claims it was a play rehearsal but Chad doesn't believe this at all. Chad wishes a vote of congratulations extended to our hard working watchmen. This sort of thing must stop and they are just the people to do it.

Chad was near Jack Ferguson's room the other night when Brian Hooker came storming out in obvious haste. Scenting a good story, Chad followed. Brian it seems was in the process of stopping everybody who he thought wouldn't tell on him and asking them if they had one small balloon in their room. Are you dropping water bombs again, Brian?

Chubby Irvine, please! If you see Chad, explain to him that you are not carrying those harps out of choice. He always thought you would be more at home with a pitchfork and horns and is quite disturbed over the possibility of you reforming.

Chad understands that one of the senior girls was interrupted in her preparations for a date by a bat flying about the third floor bathroom. So if one of you boys had to wait for your girl recently, she didn't have bats in her belfry; she had them somewhere else.

That's all this week from Chad. He's off again on the hunt, so watch yourself. He is here "in loco parentis".

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE FUTURE

Working in co-operation with the Registrar, the Students' Council has lined up several meetings this term. At these meetings, representatives of leading Canadian Companies and organizations will speak. They will outline the opportunities in the various fields for graduate student summer employment.

The first of these meetings will be held on Nov. 28th at 8:30 p.m. in Room 107 of the Main Building. The speaker for the evening will be:-

Mr. G. A. Blackburn
Asst. Director of Planning & Developing Civil Service Commission

Mr. T. B. Cooper
Chairman, College Relations Committee
National Dairy Council of Canada

Mr. Charles Warrington
Representative
Canadian Industries Limited

The speakers are contributing personal time and some are travelling considerable distances to make these meetings possible. Students in search of summer jobs should find these meetings very informative and helpful in deciding on a job for the coming summer holidays.

TWENTY FOUR HOUR ALERT (Tech)

George Jeffries (the Warden), Margie Adams (the Girl) and John Mitchell (Dyke), in scene from the Valiant.

The Class of '58 chose as the fourth in the series of Interclass plays, "The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemas.

The play was a difficult choice, the entire action taking place in the warden's office of a state prison in the U.S.A. The central character was James Dyke, a young man who was under sentence of death, and was seriously believed by both Warden and prison Chaplain to be living under an assumed name in order to 'cover up' for somebody else. This deep conviction was not peculiar to just the Warden and Chaplain, but was shared by many others, including a young lady who felt certain that the prisoner was her brother, and she journeyed to the prison to see him for the last time. In conversation it was learned that the prisoner was not the brother, but had known him in the Army, and had witnessed his death at the battlefront. The mystery was, therefore, solved, causing considerable distress to the girl but clearing up the problem for the prison authorities.

The acting varied from fair to quite good. There was considerable talking but very little movement, which meant that in order to be alive, the words should have been made interesting. This aim was, unfortunately, not achieved. George Jeffries as the Warden gave a fairly good performance. He was slightly stiff but this was not overdone. Although he started off well, his acting seemed to deteriorate toward the end. The part of Father Daly, the Chaplain, was played by Doug Byers. A good attempt at mastering the part was made, but the player did not have the fatherly manner or warmth associated with such people. Brief, appropriate and suitably unobtrusive entries were made by George Mackenzie as the jailer. John Mitchell, as James Dyke, "The Valient", gave a good performance. He seemed to be in good command of the situation but was inclined to hold back slightly. He would have been excellent in the role if he'd let himself go just a little more. Margie Adams, as "The Girl", gave a performance which was rather too simple. Her words were clear but lacked the expression so necessary to bring that part to life.

The stage, set as the Warden's office, was austere as it should have been, but a severe light colour on the walls would have been more in keeping than the warm, brown tones of the unpainted flats. Incidental effects were quite good, but a little more attention to details would have been worthwhile. The clock, on display for all to see, remained fixed at 11:20 throughout the performance. There was an irritating background noise during the play and although it was explained on the programme that it was a rainy night, this noise could only be described as the undisguisable sound of a gramophone record with a needle stuck in the groove. The light coloured suit worn by Margie Adams seemed far too casual a garb for one visiting her brother for the last time, and, although this may have been necessitated for economic reasons, a dark suit would have been more appropriate.

It is regrettable to be unable to make a more favourable criticism, as enthusiasm was certainly not lacking in the production. All the players tried really hard to handle this rather difficult play, and Zehava Malus, the Director, tackled her task with her usual zeal.

Features

FARM - CITY WEEK

The purpose of the Farm-City Week is, simply stated, to further understanding between Urban and Rural groups and to dramatize the role of the farmer and the city dweller and their independence on each other.

Farm - City Week was originally the idea of a small group of men in the United States, and for six years they discussed ways and means of inaugurating it without success. At the same time, Kiwanis International were discussing a similar plan. The two groups got together and it was decided that Kiwanis International was fully capable, and its International organizations assumed full coverage in both Canada and the United States. Thus after several years of planning, Farm - City Week became a reality in 1955 with the blessings of the Governments on both sides of the border.

More than 400 organizations are active in this year's observance of Farm - City Week from November 16th to November 22nd. They include commercial and industrial firms, schools and educational organizations, and government agencies.

Both nationally and regionally, Kiwanis International is acting as the co-ordinating agency for the week long series of events.

Some of the Headline Events are:-

An International Day: Agricultural attaches from leading Washington Embassies will meet with U. S. Agricultural and Farm - City Week leaders for a meal and a program in Washington, D.C.

In Chicago, there will be a mass exchange of farm and city dwellers for a day. The International Livestock Exposition in Chicago will entertain visitors from the Chicago end.

Locally, the Montreal Kiwanis Club will have Dr. H. H. Hannan, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, as its guest speaker on November 22nd.

The invited guests will be all the past winners of Kiwanis Bursaries in the Diploma Course at Macdonald College in addition to Junior Cattle Judging contest winners at three of the Quebec fairs last summer. Also two club members from the 4H club will be present. These clubbers were selected for recognition by the Kiwanis for their interest, co-operation and contribution to 4H work.

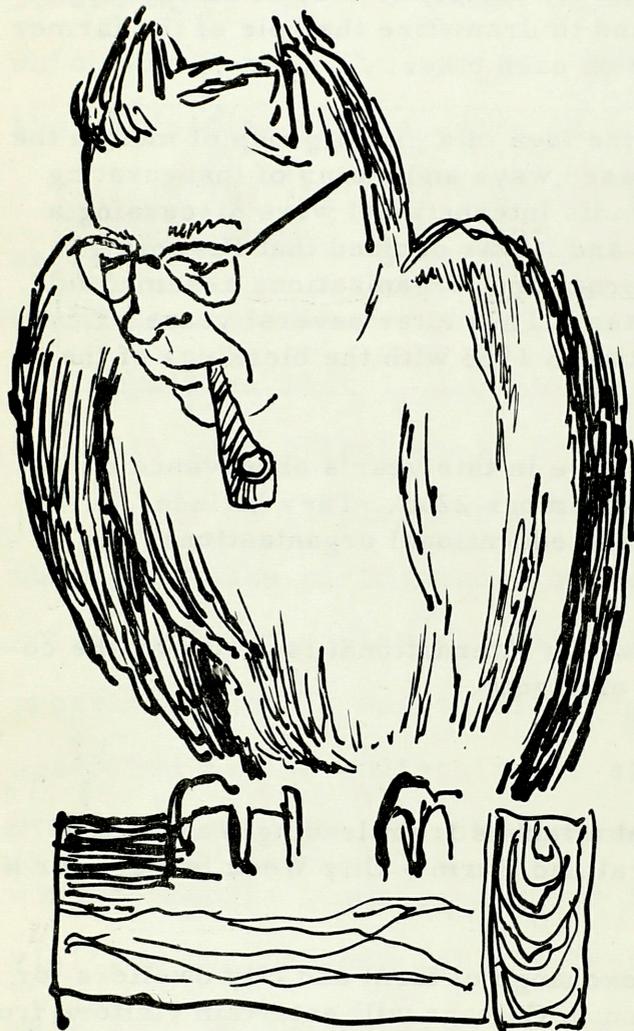

Undoubtedly, this is one of the most worthwhile exercises of its type and one which is of estimable value in a country which depends so largely on

FLORA AND FAUNA
OF MACDONALD COLLEGE

Specimen No. 5

Wardonus novus
or the Residential Owl

This barn owl is a stimulating, frustrating and very perturbing addition to the jungle. It flew in recently to supplement our own variegated species, and it does. It produced tremours on its arrival, but seems to have settled down quite satisfactorily.

Appearance and General Characteristics

Dark and moody, but don't be deceived. There is no doubt about the fact that this bird is definately on the beam (see picture). It appears to be modelled on the wise old bird that sat in the oak, who, the more he saw the leass he spoke, etc. etc.

Calls

Can be easily recognised by "Halo, Mr. So and So", which it utters on sight. This is always very pleasant, and quite common around the jungle, but it is the "Mr." that gives it away. Apart from this it seems to confine its voice to official functions such as for example when hooting on barns; on these occasions its calls have peculiar echo like qualities.

Habitat

The ole Cole hole, where it lives in quiet seclusion. It might be hatching something, though this is, of course, biologically very unlikely.

Occupations and Interests

Barn owls are well known for their flitting about at night, but the astounding thing about this one is that it does not. It is rarely seen flitting about the barn, or even flitting about anywhere when you get right down to it, and least of all at night.

Its sense of sight is quite accute - it seems to be quite far sighted, but with night fall it seems to relax into a semi-comatic condition - or perhaps it suffers from a stratigically poor sense of hearing. Mice do not interest it at all, it leaves them to Hughe Owls and others.

TRIP TO ROYAL WINTER FAIR

On Sunday evening Oct. 11th, a very large number of Macdonald College Students boarded the west bound train for Toronto to attend the Royal Winter Fair. The enthusiastic group arrived in Toronto on Monday morning and immediately started out for the Exhibition grounds. Upon arriving at the Fair quite a few of us opened our eyes to one of the largest Agricultural Exhibitions in the world.

Most of the time of the Agricultural Students at the Fair was spent near the Livestock judging rings. Among the animals seen judged were Holstein, Ayrshire, and Jersey Dairy Cattle, Aberdeen Angus, Herford and Shorthorn Beef Cattle, and Yorkshire Hogs. In addition to these animals, many of the students were keenly interested in the different breeds of Horses, Sheep, and Poultry. The evening programs included the outstanding Horse Shows which can be rated with the best in the world.

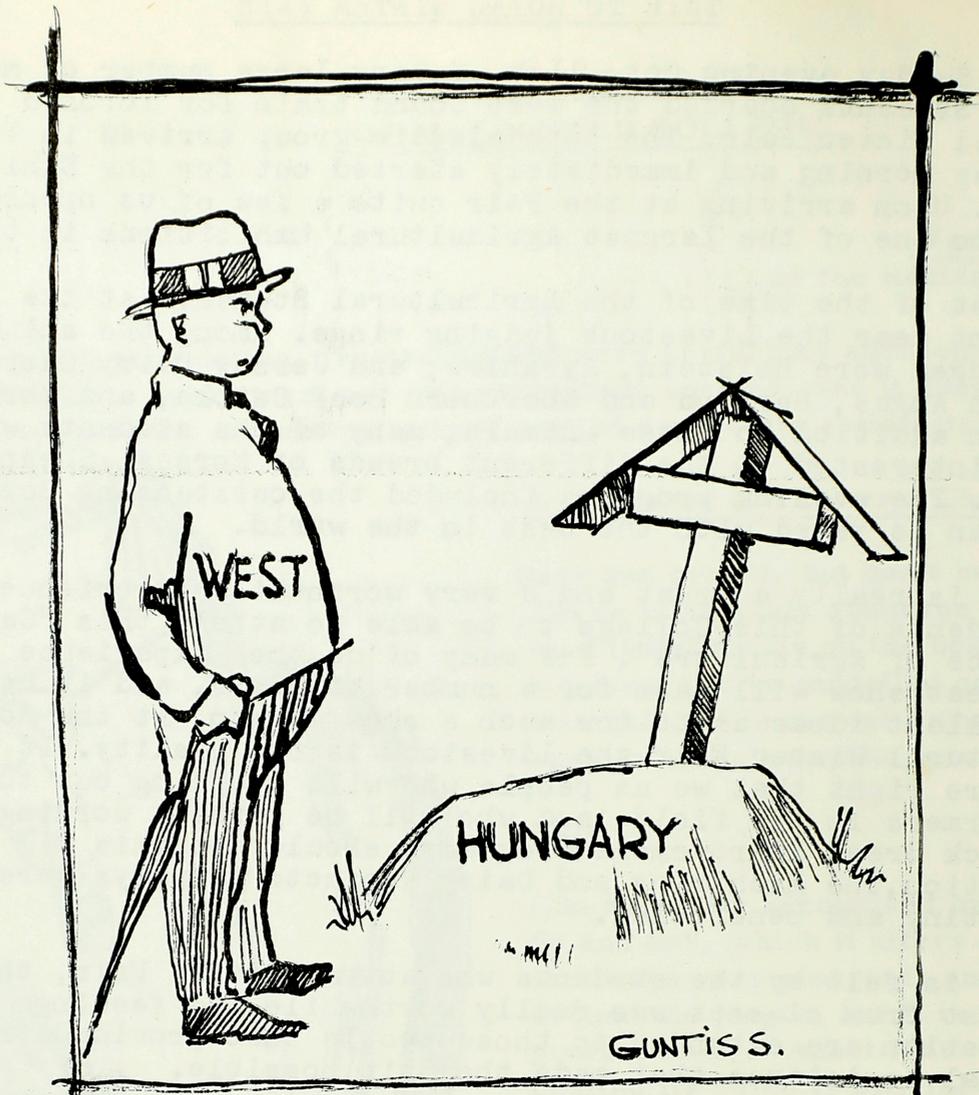

It is really a treat and a very worthwhile experience for the students of this College to be able to attend this "Canadian Showplace of Agriculture". For many of us the experience of seeing this great show will last for a number of years, and it has given us excellent ideas as to how such a show is run. At the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair the livestock is top quality. It is therefore right that we as people who will be going out to work with Farmers in the field, and who will be perhaps working on Livestock Breed Improvement Programs, should see this big show. In addition, the Machinery and Dairy Products Displays were very interesting and beneficial.

It is felt by the students who attended this Fair, that the time lost from classes was really worthwhile and feelings of appreciation are extended to those people that provided the financial assistance that made the trip possible.

MACDONALD PLAYS FIRST TWO GAMES
IN MONTREAL GOLDEN BALL TOURNAMENT

The Macdonald College Senior Basketball Team played its first two games in the Golden Ball Tournament and defeated the University of Montreal by 57-45 but were in turn defeated by Loyola, 70-52.

In the first game, Mac displayed their determination to win this series by downing U of M even though the two teams were very evenly matched. Fine offensive playing by John MacCallum, Doug Hicks and Brian Carrière paved the way for Mac's victory. Strong defensive playing, also, prevented U of M from making as many attempts at the basket as they would have liked.

Those who played and their scores were:- MacCallum, 19; Carrière, 13; Hicks, 12; Joubert, 5; Davidson; Green, 2; McCully, 6; Farr and Colpitts.

In the second game, the Aggies, under the strain of playing on two successive nights, tasted defeat at the hands of Loyola College.

After a fast and furious first half, Mac was in the lead by 32-30. Loyola opened the scoring in this half but could not manage to get any substantial lead, but in the second half they began with three quick baskets and no returns from Mac. Mac then switched to a man to man defense but Loyola continued to build up their lead. Evan Joubert and Doug Hicks played good games under the boards while Brian Carrière led the way for the offense. Players in this game were: Hicks, 12, Carrière, 22; McCully, 5; MacCallum, 4; Davidson, 4; Joubert, 3; Farr; Green, 2.

their very successful "trap" play. It was Pratt who finally scored for the Gaiters after this downfield march. The convert attempt by Hart was wide and the Gaiters were out in front.

For five minutes in the third quarter the Aggie offensive "caught fire" and the Macdonald contingent went into the lead again nine to six on an end sweep by Little. Cheered on by the backing of over a hundred of Mac's staunchest supporters the Aggies carried the ball from their own twenty to the touchline behind the fine quarterbacking of Dave Mowat and running by Gardner and Little. The third quarter ended with Mac in front nine to six.

Half way through the fourth quarter the Bishop Gaiters came up with the play that broke the Aggies' back. Quarterback Mowat faded back to pass on his own forty when the hard charging Bishop line broke into his pocket. The ball was knocked from his hands as he attempted to pass and the Gaiters recovered. Realizing that this might well be their last chance to score the fired-up Gaiters pushed to the Aggie twenty yard line on several fine runs by Pratt. Bishop quarterback, MacDonald, then faded back to pass and put the ball in Pratt's hands in the end zone for the "T.D." This time the convert attempt by Hart was good and Bishops were in front, thirteen to nine. Vainly trying to get the ball back into safe territory our boys conceded one more point but to no avail for as the time wore on the Gaiter quarterback stayed on the ground and the game ended with Bishops out in front.

It was a closely fought ball game all the way with Bishops deserving their win. The difference between the two teams was in the offensive department. Our Aggies didn't seem to be able to get untracked, as the score shows. We were only good enough for one touchdown which in the majority of cases isn't enough to win many ball games.

SIDELINES: Macdonald College in all estimates has the right to feel proud of their football team. . . . they had a tremendous year even though they weren't able to win a Championship. . . . Last year they ended up in last place after a winless year. . . . this year they were five points away from winning a Championship. . . . much of the credit is due to the fine coaching by Bob Pugh. . . . Throughout the year he kept the spirit and the play of the aggies something of which to be proud. . . . Those of the football team feel fortunate in having been able to play for him.

The future looks good for Mac footballers. Twenty of this year's team are expected back. . . . the football team appreciated the spirit and backing they got from the student body.

TRINIDAD MERRY MAKERS ENTERTAIN AT MAC.

The Women's Gym was temporarily transformed into a Caribbean rendezvous last Saturday night, when the exotic music of the West Indies had dancers and spectators alike completely intoxicated with the pulsating rhythm.

From 6:45 p.m. until midnight, the gymnasium reverberated with the sounds of Calypsos, Mambos, Rhumbas, the Merengue and the Cha-Cha.

Recorded music entertained the crowd until nine o'clock when the 'Trinidad Music Makers', a steel band made up of West Indian Students at McGill and Sir George Williams dished out the most rhythmic tunes ever heard within those walls.

The interested, albeit, puzzled onlookers found it difficult to
