

لَقَدْ اِنَّ النَّوْذَانَ غَفَلْنَا وَاخَذَ الْخَطْمُ مِنْ بَاقِي الشَّيْءِ

لَيْسَ فِي الْحُبِّ مَشْوَرَةٌ وَلَا فِي الشَّهْوَانِ خُصُومَةٌ ۝ ابْوَابُ
الْمُلُوكِ مَعَادِنُ الْحَاجَاتِ وَلَا يَسْتَجَابُهَا إِلَّا الصَّبْرُ وَ
الْمُلَازِمَةُ ۝ مَثَلُ الْكَاتِبِ كَالدُّوْلَابِ اِذَا تَعَطَّلَ تَكْسِرُهُ
وَمِنْ كَلَامِهِ مَا رَأَيْتُ اقْرَبَ رِضًا مِنْ سَخَطٍ وَلَا اسْرَعَ مَا بَيَّرَ
بَيْنَ قَرِيْبٍ وَبَعْدٍ مِنَ الْمُلُوكِ وَكَانَ يَقُوْلُ قَدْ صَنَعْتُ امِيْرًا مَلُوًّا

Arabic Manuscript
Written by Abubakr Rāshid
A.H. 1195 = A.D. 1780

Consists of extracts from the Traditional Sayings. The first two lines are in Thuluth and the rest in Naskh. The colophon gives the writer and date. Among the Sayings are: "Respect those above you and compassionate those beneath you." "The best friend is he who guides you to that which is good." "Two things are unappreciated until they have passed away - health and youth."
