NEW-YOR NERNITES:

SERIOUS

CONSIDERATIONS, &c.

S France has hitherto, by the Means of Great-Britain chiefly, been prevented from enflaving the World and Mankind, they are become of Courfe our implacable and most inveterate Enemies, and of late every where our Competitors in Trade, and, as one of the Links of their grand Syftem, Encroachers upon our Territories; regardlefs of all Faith, Oaths, or Treaties, their national Polity being one continued Train of Chicane and Deceit; witnefs, the late audacious Infult of an abandoned Crew of his Majefty's own Subjects, inftigated and fupported by that grand Monarch, upon the Liberties of Great-Britain itfelf.

THEIR late Encroachments upon his Majefty's Rights and Territories, in the East and West-Indies, in Africa, and in Hudson's-Bay, with the most provoking Circumstances, are fo well known, that I believe I need not mention them. And now they feem avowedly, and with much Afsurance, to open the fame shameful Scene upon this Continent, which they have indeed been long practising underhand. Thus by System they are become the Difturbers of the Peace of Mankind, and worse than a Pest, for there is no End of it to every contiguous Society; we are not the only Objects of their Refertment.

THAT

THAT vast Sums have been expended upon their royal Geographers, and Hydrographers, in Order that their Maps and Sea-Charts may quadrate with their political System of Encroachments upon the Territories of other Nations, is apparent to the whole World; and thus by eftablishing their imaginary Rights by Pen and Ink, they are determined to confirm their Accuracy by a forcible Poffeffion. Another Piece of Fineffe, or French Policy, is that of burying Leaden Plates up and down this Continent, with certain Inscriptions, in order to form new Pretenfions; but in this, I am told, they were discovered by some of our Indians, who, tho' not pleafed, were diverted with the Whim, as I am confident the World must be with their other Project, being equally ridiculous. What Figure we are like to make in this Dispute; we, I fay, who are fo nearly concerned in the Event, and who muft become in all Probability, the first Sacrifice; we, to whom, in a great Measure, all this Impertinence is owing, who by an ill-judged Frugality meanly neglected the preventing their first Intrusions at Crown Point, and that important Pafs at Niagara, and fome more of the like Kind, together with a total Neglect of Indian Affairs, I shall not take upon me to determine; nor shall I enter into a Discussion of the Reasons of that Neglect, or to whom owing, at this Time ; this is not the Time to retrospect, we must now look forward. Our Cafe at present is neither more nor less than this, viz. That the French are now drawing a Line along the Borders of our Settlements in every Province, from the Mouth of St. Lawrence, to the Mouth of Miffisippi, and building Forts to fecure the most convenient Passes on the Lakes, that form the Communication; by which they will effectually cut off all Intercourfe and Traffick, between us and the Indians dians inhabiting the inland Countries; and likewife compel those who are Neighbours and Allies, by reason of the absolute Dependance they must have on the French for every Thing they want, as well as for their Liberty of Hunting and Fishing, to fall under their Subjection, or ftarve. It therefore behoveth us at this Time to exert our utmost Endeavours, by all the Means in our Power, to prevent fo bad a Neighbourhood. It is a Maxim in England, to avoid, if poffible, the Neighbourhood of a great Lord; by the fame Parity of Reafon, what ought we then not to do, to avoid that of an ambitious, all-grafping Monarch, whofe Will, often the Caprice of a Mifs, or a Fovourite, is the Law; For fuch is our Pleasure, is their whole Corpus Juris. One great Step, if not the greatest to this grand Monarch's univerfal Syftem, is that of being poffeffed of this Northern Continent of America, a Territory boundless as is his Ambition: In which he has made not a little Progrefs.

THE vaft Anxiety the Court and Kingdom of France were under on the Loss of Cape-Breton, efteemed the Key and Dunkirk of North America, and which I doubt will be equally baneful to us as ever the other was to Britain, together with other numerous Circumftances, and indeed from every Step taken, may convince us, that the Plan for extirpating the Subjects of Great-Britain out of America, has been long in Agitation; the French lay their Plans of this Kind at a Diftance, but feldom lofe the Point in View.

THEY have for many Years been indefatigable in their Endeavours to feduce our Indians; we on the other Side, have been as indolent as they could wifh; and if ever they fucceed in this Point effectually, they will have little elfe to do.

REGULAR Troops are of little Use here, further than to fight from behind Walls; it is by Means of the Indians, and by them only, that any Stop can be put to those wicked Encroachments. And this is as yet very far from being either impossible or impracticable, if all Hands fet heartily about it; the very French themselves openly upbraid us with our Indolence and Divisions, which they acknowledge to be their greateft Security. It is evident therefore I think to a Demonstration, that if we continue to neglect our Indians much longer, or, if this Plan of a Congress for a Confederacy should prove abortive through the Caprice of any Man, or Number of Men, or by any ill-judged Frugality, that we may from thence date the Commencement of the Diffolution and Deftruction of these Colonies: As for my own Part I fincerely believe the Indians will go off in a Body, and in that Cafe we shall most certainly be the first undone, Great-Britain will fuffer, and all Europe will fooner or later feel the Effects of it. Those therefore, who are more immediately concerned, and with whom we have entrusted the Security of our Lives and Fortunes, have not a little to answer for to the present Generation, as well as to those who are to come after us, for their Conduct upon this critical Occasion.

LET us for once fuppofe the French, by their Fortifications and Lines of Communication, abfolutely Mafters, either by Force, or Friendship of the Indians; how easy a Matter would it be for them, with a small naval Force, to put us between two Fires? A small Force of regular Troops to attack Albany, and New-York, at the same Time, while their Blood-hounds are burning and maffacring our Out-settlements, is, in my humble Opinion, the Plan laid, and which they will put in Execution sooner or latter, according as they become Masters Masters of the Indians; and what a Catastrophe will this create!

WHERE is now that Champion of our Liberties, who fo worthily exerted himfelf in the Cafes of Rotten-Row, and rotten black Gowns? Let him now ftand forth, our All being at Stake, and difplay his Eloquence; a Philippic or two; for never were Cafes more parallel than that of Greece and ours. when Demosthenes, by his powerful Eloquence, raifed fuch a Spirit of Liberty in his Countrymen the Athenians, ready to fink, and upon the Brink of Destruction, as faved his Country ; a few Philippics, I fay, in that Gentleman's perfwafive Manner, (I am ferious) might have wonderful Effects, and eternize his Memory. And the Cafes being fo much alike, the fame Reafoning, with a very few mutatis mutandis, will hold ; we most certainly want the Affistance of our best Heads and Hands, to infuse fome publick Spirit amongst us, and to raife us out of our prefent Lethargy.

LET us not, however, despair, we are not yet past Redemption; we have Hands, and I hope Hearts enough, if properly employed, to recover all our paft Lapfes and falfe Steps. But, as a worthy Patriot upon the like Occasion observes, this must indeed be very burthenfome ; for if the greateft State in Europe animated by the Prospect of universal Dominion, enabled by the abfolute Power of its Government to draw every Shilling out of private Purfee. into the publick Purfe; and affifted by the perfonal Service of all its People, through the national Vanity, and martial Habit of the Country; if fuch a State will prefs the Ruin of its Neighbours with an obstinate Expence of all its Blood, and all its Treafure, no Man can think it is an easy Task to reduce or refift a Power which shall act this Part : But you are to confider, fays he, not fo much the DiffiDiffiulties you muft now encounter to defend yourfelves, in this Conjuncture, as the certain Impoffibility of your ever being able to do it again in any other, if you lofe the prefent Opportunity. I fhall only therefore beg Leave to fay as to the State of our Affairs, the Fact is this, that fuch is the Power, fuch the Ambition, fuch the deftructive Plan laid down by France; a Plan to divide and enflave the World; a Plan purfued with the utmoft Obftinacy through every Difficulty for above a Century paft. So far my Author; how juftly applicable to the prefent Situation of our Affairs, judge O Reader!

But as pointing out these impending Evils, without offering, or attempting to offer, a Remedy, is a Practice too common, and is only doing Things by Halves, I shall beg Leave with much Submission, to offer such Hints as have occurred to me from long Observation; which I hope some abler Hand will take up and improve with Candour, to which I invite them, nay, I challenge it, as they will answer the Contrary to their God, their King, their Country, and Posterity.

THAT we have loft, in a great Meafure, all that fincere Friendship and Attachment which did once fublist between us and our Indians (upon which, from the Malevolence of a wicked Neighbourhood, our Being, in this Part of the World, chiefly depends) is notorious to the World; by what, or by whose Means, as before, I shall not take upon me to difcuss; the Task is inviduous. I shall only beg Leave to observe, that the injurious and villainous Treatment they have met with for these many Years, in their Way of Trade, and that without Redress, together with the proper Use our implacable Enemies have made of it, who, by all Accounts, however they may treat their Indians in other other Matters, in that of Traffick they are always honeftly and juftly dealt by, are the Sources of our Misfortunes. Now in order to regain their Affections and Friendship effectually, it will be necessary, in my humble Opinion, in the first Place, to establish fome good and fufficient Laws for the Regulation of their Trade, and for fummary and fevere Justice in Cafe of Abuses: Under the Government of Boston, they have several, which appear to me very reasonable, and may be improved; one I shall here beg Leave to insert; it is but short.

By an Act of the 12th of GEO. it is enacted, That Provisions, Cloathing, &c. Juitable for carrying on a Trade with the Indians, not exceeding the Value of. Nine Thousand Pounds, be procured at the Cost of the Province, and the Produce applied for supplying the Indians, by fuch Perfons as shall be annually chosen, &c. who shall annually produce fair Accounts of their Proceedings; which Supplies shall be lodged at, &c. That a suitable Person shall be chofen annually at each of the Places where any of the Goods are lodged ; which Truck masters shall be under Oath, and give sufficient Security for the faithful Execution of that Trust, and such Instructions as they Iball receive from Time to Time; and Iball keep fair Accounts of their Trade and Dealings with the Indians, and shall return the same, with the Produce, to the Person or Persons who shall be appointed to Supply them with Goods; and they shall not trade with the Indians, on their own Account. That the Truckmasters sell to the Indians at the Prices set in the Invoices fent them from Time to Time, without any Advance thereon; and shall allow the Indians for their Furs, and their Goods, as the Market shall be at Bofton, according to the last Advices from the Person or Persons that shall supply them with the same Commodities of equal Goodness: Rum to be given to the Indians R

Indians in moderate Quantities, by the Truck-masters only: No Person whatsoever, other than the Truckmasters, and they only as such, shall or may presume, by themselves, or any other for them, directly or indirectly, to sell, truck, barter, or exchange to any Indian or Indians, any Wares, Merchandize, or Provisions, within six Miles of any Truck-bouse, on Penalty of forfeiting Fifty Pounds, or six Months Imprisonment, &c.

Some good Laws of this Kind would go a great Way to answer all our Purposes, if duly executed. The French often treat the Indians à la Cavalier, and threaten to cut them off, if they do not join with them in their Excursions; and they will be as good as their Words, fo foon as they have compleated their Schemes. Of this the Indians are not without their Apprehensions, and therefore have still a Hankering or Leaning towards our Interest, which, if properly managed, will foon reconcile them; they are far from being infenfible that it is their Intereft to be on our Side, or that they can at any Time, or any where, be fo well fupplied. They are at this Time upon the Balance, between Hopes and Fears, and if we do not now fix them, I believe we may bid them fairly adieu ! What lefs can we expect from them? We, who have been cheating and abufing them for fo many Years, without Redrefs, in a most abominable Manner, of which take the following Specimen: Without affording them the least Affistance in any Shape, befides that of a few Prefents from Time to Time, which in Reality are of no Manner of Use to them, being divided at Albany, the far greater Part remains with those confcientious Handlers there, for Rum; fo that the Caftles know little more of the Matter than that there was a Prefent made. These however are but but Palliatives, there must be something more substantial in the Case.

HAVING, as above, made proper Regulations for the Trade, and that they may be no longer fo unmercifully impofed upon, both in Weight and Meafure, as well as in Quality and Prices, which has almost alienated their Hearts from us; the next Step that I would advife should be taken, is, that of erecting proper Fortifications in or near every one of the Indian Castles, with a Garrison of about 15 or 20 Men in each, with an approved Serjeant, two or three of which may be Smiths, in double Pay, with a few Field Pieces, Spare Arms, Snow-Shoes (with which the French are always provided) fmall Hatchets, and fome Dogs of a proper Kind, to prevent Surprizes in the Night.

THIS, I doubt not, the Indians would readily come into, as it would greatly encourage their Hunting, as well as their War Parties, and as it would be a Security for their old Men, Women, and Children, and a fafe Retreat for themfelvesupon all Occafions; without fuch Security, they are impatient when Abroad, and feldom care to go far; belides the Lofs of Numbers to the Service, upon any Emergency, who are detained at Home for that Purpofe. These Forts might at the fame Time answer all the Purposes of Truck or Tradinghouses, to be divided by Lot amongst the contributing Colonies as far as they will go; and which, if properly ftored with Indian Goods, and regulated according to the Method in New-England, would very foon create fuch an Intercourfe and Connection between the remote Indian Nations and ours, as would turn out greatly to our Advantage. One fingle independent Company would garrifon the Whole; and what a Trifle of a Charge would this be, in Comparison to the Advantages we might hope B -2 hope for, and expect from it; and indeed it is my humble Opinion, that nothing lefs will effectually fecure our Interest and Friendship with the Indians.

As it is agreed on all Hands, that a good ftrong Fort ought to be erected at or near the Wood Creek. in Order to counter-balance that of Grown Point, I fhall make no Doubt but that those who are entrusted with the Care of our Security, will foon fee that Part (as well as every other) of their Duty put in Execution, and I make as little Doubt but that his Majesty, upon a proper Application, would, out of his wonted Goodnels, favour us with an independent Company of Highlanders; there feems to be fo much Affinity both in their Disposition and Drefs, (which I would have compleat Highland) with that of our Indians, that I am confident they would be highly pleafed with them, and I doubt not, have a very good Effect. In Cafe of enlifting for this Service. Care ought to be taken to avoid all Roman Catholicks; we have, I doubt, too many of them already from Ireland, in those four Companies.

ONE Objection to this Scheme may be, the Expence and Trouble attending the Victualling and Relieving: To which I beg Leave to fay, that if the Indians approve of it, they will undertake to carry and efcort Goods or Provisions, at an eafy Rate: Or why may not those very Garrisons in a little Time, with proper Care, be induced to raife their own Provisions? Suppose the Victualling of twenty Men to coft the Government Two Hundred Pounds yearly, let those Men be encouraged, and fet to Work to provide themfelves, and let them have the Two Hundred Pounds belides their Pay, and a Title to all the Lands they do or can improve, and their Difcharge when demanded; this would fave the Trouble, the Rifque, the Relieving and the Expence of carrying Provisions, and be the Means

Means of better fettling our Frontiers; there are those to be found, I doubt not, who would undertake, if properly encouraged. That of relieving Garrisons here, is, in my humble Opinion, but bad Policy; none should be fent but fome Tradessen ; all the rest should be only such as have been used to Husbandry and Labour: Had this Method been taken fifty Years ago, we should very probably have had many Thousand Families in the Seneca's Country at this Day.

THE Use of Garrifons here, are either to encourage and protect Settlements, or to secure important Passes; the French have succeeded in the latter; we, I shall not say for what Reason, in neither.

THIS however is not all, if we intend to convince them that we are really in earnest, and that they fhould fight for us, we must fight along with them, and always have fome of our People to head their Parties; the French feldom fail of this Method : I should therefore advise the establishing an independent Company or two, in Time of War, of an hundred good Men each, with an Addition of five Indians from each Nation, to be in constant Pay, Peace or War, as Rangers; one of the Companies from Connecticut would add Strength to the County of Albany; the Officers to be Men of fome Diffinction and Knowledge, and fully impowered to receive Complaints, and redrefs Grievances amongft the Indians; to be a Sort of a flying Camp, frequently moving from Nation to Nation, to head all Parties, and to command out as many Indians upon any Emergency as they may think proper; one Company of Rangers properly disposed, will be of more Use than three in Garrison. And here I shall beg Leave once for all to observe, that no Perfon employed in this Service be allowed to trade with the Indians, on the feverest Penalties.

THUS

THUS our Indians being fecured in an honeft and fair Trade, their Castles secured, either for the Safety of their Families, or as a Retreat for themfelves; and being well affured of our being in earness to support them upon all Occasions, as we have in former Days done, it is not to be doubted but that we shall very soon get into their good Graces and Friendship.

THE King, the Parliament, and indeed every British Subject, being deeply concerned in the Event of this Congress at Albany, will doubtless fcan the Conduct of our Colony Affemblies upon this Occafion; a hearty and generous Concurrence will have wonderful Effects, and I make no Doubt but that we shall be able in a little Time, by proper Meafures, to turn the Tables upon that faithless Nation, who have been long underhand endeavouring our Destruction, and who seem now, by their audacious Infults upon our Traders and Plantations, openly to avow it.

LET us not therefore, Gentlemen of the Affemblies, by an ill-timed Frugality lofe our All; would any of you, pray Gentlemen, lofe a Sheep for a Halfpenny's worth of Tar? Surely not. Let us act like Britons, and with Unanimity; and here give me Leave to put you in Mind of the Fable.

Of the LION and the four BULLS.

FOUR Bulls which had entered into a very strift Friendship, kept always near one another, and always fed together. The Lion often saw them, and had as often a Mind to make one of them his Prey: But though he could easily have subdued any of them Single, yet he was afraid to attack the whole Alliance, as knowing they would be too hard for him, and therefore contented himself for the present with keeping at a Dia Distance: At last perceiving no Attempt was to be made upon them as long as this Combination beld, he took Occasion by Whispers and Hints to form Jealousies, and raise Divisions among them: This Stratagem succeeded so well, that the Bulls grew cold and reserved to one another, which soon after ripened into a downright Hatred and Aversion, and at last ended in a total Separation. The Lion had now obtained his Ends; and, as impossible it was for him to burt them while united, he found no Difficulty, now they were parted, to size and devour every Bull of them, one after another.

SIR W. Temple observes, that in the Kindom of Great-Britain, when the Romans first entered, it was divided into feveral Diftricts, each governed by its own Prince, or Governor, different in their Views and Councils, by which Means they became an eafy Conquest : Dum singuli pugnabunt, universi vincebantur; while they fought fingly, the whole Island was The French have little to fight for but fubdued. the Glory of their Monarch; we have the Glory of Britain, our Religion, our Liberties and our Properties, and upwards of a hundred Years Labour in these wild Deserts for the Sake of our Posterity; in fhort, it is pro aris & focis, that we are to ftruggle ; and I doubt it is now or never. Should this Congress break up without answering the intended Defign of it. I shall very readily advise my Children to look out in Time for a fafe Retreat.

LET us ferioufly confider what Defolation and Deftruction our innocent Neighbours and Fellow Subjects have undergone from those barbarous Canadeans, who are effected, even in France, a Race of Men lost to all those Principles of Honour upon which that Nation pique themselves; who, together with their Cannibals, take Pleasure in wantonly burning burning Cottages, and in the inhuman torturing and murdering harmlefs old Women and helplefs Infants; let us, I fay, ferioufly confider what we have undergone, when the French were but a Handful, and our Indians our Friends: What muft be our Fate when they are become more numerous, and they are daily encreasing, and our Indians on their Side? I fhudder to think of it.

LET us confider what Anxiety those poor People undergo, with what Uncafiness they go to their Beds, what Alarms and Heart-beatings they are under upon the least Barking of a Dog, expecting every Moment to have their Scalps carried off, and their Bodies mangled; while we enjoy a profound Rest, without Care or Thought: Is this Truth, and will it not move you, Gentlemen ?

LET us exert our best Endeavours to shew our Gratitude to our Mother Country, who has hitherto nursed and supported us at an infinite Expence, by preferving to them, and to them only, the Fruits of our Labour.

THE Time was when we had only to fend to our Indians to discharge the French from building Forts. or making Encroachments; but we have loft it by a fatal Neglect of Indian Affairs. It is well known with how much Submiffion they begged Leave to erect but a fmall Hut, as a Refting-place only, at Niagara : How different the Times! The Execution of this Scheme, or, indeed, any other, and fome one or other there must be, will, no doubt, be attended with a very confiderable Expence; but when the other Colonies, who are not lefs concerned in the Event, come in for their Proportion, together with what Affiftance his Majefty may be fo good as to favour us with, it is to be hoped the Charge will become tolerably eafy : Be that as it will we must launch out. And is there ever a British Subject

Subject amongst us, who alone know the true Value of Liberty and Property, that will upon this Occasion, grudge a few Pence upon every Hundred Acres, or a few Shillings for every Slave, to fecure to him and his Posterity, all that is valuable in Life, or for which Life is valuable? Or why may not the Gentry pay for their Safh-windows upon fuch preffing Occafions, and _____ Shillings upon every Wheel of their Pleafure-Carriages? This is all ready Money. And as the Gentlemen paid lately for their Wigs, why may not the Ladies, in their Turn, pay for their Hoops? After all, a gentle Land-Tax, being the most equitable upon these Occasions, must be our dernier Refort. Trade is at prefent an Object of Compassion, and must be gently treated, as well as the poor Sort of the People without Property : They must fight our Battles :- which puts me in mind of the Fable,

The SENSIBLE A S S.

A N old Fellow was feeding an Ass in a fine green Meadow; and being alarmed with the Sudden Approach of the Enemy, was impatient with the Ass to put himself forward, and fly with all the Speed he was able. The Ass asked him, Whether or no he thought the Enemy would clap two Pair of Panniens upon his Back? The Man said, No, there was no Fear of that. Why then, says the Ass, I'll not stir an Inch; for what is it to me who my Master is, fince I shall but carry my Panniers as usual.

THAT parfimonious Disposition, in our Colony Affemblies, have had, and we now feel it, and ever will have, fatal Effects.

OUR Fellow Subjects in Virginia have shewn us a noble Example, which has already put some Life into our Indians: Witness the Half King's Speech to the French Officer. And as the like Encroachments, as I understand, have been lately made upon the People of New-England, it is not to be doubted, but that they will exert themselves with the C fame Spirit and Bravery they did at Cape-Breton. And fhall we, like Poltroons, ftand aghaft, with our Hands in our Pockets; we, I fay, who have coft the People of England, in nurfing and protecting us, more, perhaps, than all the other Colonies upon the Continent together; or grudge our Proportion of the Expence, adequate to the Importance it may be of to us? Let it not be told in Gath, or published in the Streets of Afkelon.

IT has been observed, that Priests have been generally well received amongft the Indians, whether upon Account of their religious Principles, or that the Indians being eternally furrounded by a Parcel of Handlers or Pickpockets, and finding the Parfon to avoid the Circle, and the whole Sphere of Tranfactions of this Kind, they conclude him an honeft Man, I shall not take upon me to determine : I believe, however, the latter is the Cafe, as they very often take his Advice in Matters of Moment, while at the fame Time they have a very defpicable Opinion of the others. It is by Means of the Priefts, in a great Meafure, that the French have fucceeded fo well in feducing our Indians, and confirming their own. I should therefore advise, that there be a Parson appointed for each Castle, no Matter of what Church, with a handfome Allowance: And why might he not act as a Commiffary as well as a Miffionary, and deal out the Goods of the Government as well as those of the Gospel? The Offices are not all incompatible; Bishops have frequently been Lord Treasurers.

I can by no Means agree in Sentiment with those Gentlemen who are for continuing that, in my humble Opinion, pernicious Trade, carried on for fo many Years, between Canada and Albany, if there were no other Reafon than that they feem really to want it, and that more than is generally imagined. I would fain know, whether they, upon any Confideration, would allow us the fame Liberties at Montreal Montreal or Quebeck? To fee fome Hundreds of French Indians, as Factors from Quebeck, trading for Indian Goods, who carry off not only Goods, but a large Share of our Specie; nothing of late will go down with them but Spanish Dollars; while a poor Trader of ours, if he has the Misfortune to meet with any of the French, within what they are now pleased to call their Dominions, is immediately hurried away Prisoner to Quebeck: This is a Contrast that I should be glad the Advocates for this Trade would account for.

It is true, they take off our Manufactures; but it is as true, that those Commodities would be taken off our Hands directly by the Indians themfelves, when they found they could not have them among the French. It is likewise faid, if they had them not from us, they would find them elfewhere. To which I beg Leave to fay, That the French know their Interest too well to trust an Affair of that Confequence fo long to fo precarious a Method of procuring them, as it is in our Power every Day to put a Stop to it: I therefore conclude, if they could have fallen upon any orher Method of procuring those Commodities, they would have done it long ago, and have kept their Furs to themselves.

OUR felling our Indian Goods to the French, to trade for us with the Indians, and having in Return their coarfeft Furs, is, in my humble Opinion, not lefs ridiculous than that of our formerly fending our Wheat to Boston, and having our Returns in Bran and fome Flour. Besides, what is of the utmost Consequence to us, is, that the Cachawagas, our old Friends, and their best Indians, whom, coute qui'l coute, cost what it will, we ought to recover, are the sole Carriers and Managers in this Affair between Canada and Albany, which has created such a Connection between them and the French, that till this Trade is abolished, it will be impossible to accomplish. NOR can I conceive the Remedy very difficult, as it may very naturally be brought within the Letter of the Twelfth of CHARLES II. which declares, That no Person, not born within the Allegiance of our Sovereign Lord the King, &c. shall trade in any of the Plantations, upon Pain of forfeiting all bis Goods and Chattels, &c. A Law, however, here, perhaps, might answer better.

I have but one Thing more to add, and that with great Submiffion, is a Point that has not been as yet canvaffed, viz. That a general Combination of all the Indians, far and near, be formed, to demolifh every Spot of fortified Ground in the Indian Countries on this Side Montreal, and the other Side of ScheneEtady, at least that they be brought to one determinate Number, never to be exceeded. By this Means the Trade will ever be kept open; nor need we apprehend further Encroachments. The French, I doubt, are too well fixed to come into any fuch Propofal; but it will have one good Effect at leaft, and that is, that it will convince the Indians that we have no other Views but their Intereft; while the French are endeavouring their Deftruction, by cutting them off from all Communication with us, to be Maslers of their Hunting-grounds, and of Courfe they must either become their Slaves or ftarve.

How foon this may happen, God, and that great Monarch, can only tell: I am not, however, without Apprehenfions, you may, if you pleafe, call them Dreams, that the French are upon a Plan different, and a Crifis much nearer, I doubt, than what we imagine. I can by no Means think that they, who are noted for their Frugality, would at this Time put themfelves to the Charge of raifing an Army of 4 or 5000 Men, for the Sake of a paltry Block-houfe or two upon a Branch of the Obio, or any where elfe, which they might have done as effectually with twenty Men, and without any Noife, accordaccording to their ufual Method, in Matters of this Kind. I am further confirmed in my Opinion, that those Block-houses are not the fole Point which the French have in View, from the Sentiments of our Affembly in a late Representation to our Lieutenant-Governor, in these Words, That the French have built a Fort at a Place called the French Creek, at a confiderable Distance from the River Ohio; which may, but does not, by an Evidence or Information, appear to us to be, an Invasion of any of his Majesty's Colonies: This is roundly afferted, but as it in fome Measure confirms my Opinion, I shall leave it to whom it more immediately concerns to discufs, hoping at the fame Time that our Enemies may not make an improper Use of it.

THOSE Block-houfes therefore, I fay, are not, in my humble Opinion, their fole Defigns at prefent, they are rather imitating, as I conceive, those fagacious little Animals, who, in order to divert your Attention from the proper Object, their little Habitations, gently lead you to a proper Diftance, till they think themfelves fecure ; and may not this be all Grimace, and a Feint, to draw our Attention and Troops from their proper Object, our Frontiers? to wit, What could be meant by a Number of Troops paffing Ofwego in one Day, and returning in the Night, and the next Day paffing again by the Fort? This is a very uncommon Piece of Conduct, and can mean nothing lefs than to draw our Attention and Troops after them into a Wild-goofe Chafe, with the View to make a Diverfion fomewhere elfe.

What can they mean by declaring that they do not want the Affiftance of the Indians, but to lull them into a Neutrality till they ftrike the Blow? If one may be allowed to form any Judgment at this Diftance, of the Situation of our Publick Affairs at Home, a Rupture does not feem to be at fo immenfe a Diftance, but that a Monfieur Danville, or even even that little Squadron, destined to chastife the Algerines, may bring us the first Account of it. And how foon are those Thousands upon the Back of us, now under Arms, collected at Albany, with their Indians? Judge now, candid Reader, what a Situation we are in for fuch an Event. And whom have we to thank for it? Without an Indian, without a Fort, that can with any Propriety be called fo; without Ammunition, without Arms, without Money, and I doubt (from the indifferent Treatment those Creditors of the Government have hitherto met with) without Credit. And fhould we want the Affiftance of our Neighbours, we have but just shewn a very bad Example. Such is our Situation: And if fuch an Event should happen, I fee nothing left, but to pray to the Lord to have Mercy upon us.

WHAT a Fatality feems to attend the Proceedings of a Neighbour Colony, who at this very critical Point of Time treat the Decrees of Heaven, and the King, with great Contempt! They have the fame Directions as the other Colonies have, to furnish their Quota's, and attend their Congress at Albany, for the Prefervation of the Whole; but because Providence has been pleased to lay its Hand upon that worthy Gentleman the Governor, fo as to difable him from attending the Affembly at Amboy, they are pleafed to tell him, When he is well enough to attend them there, they will then confider what is to be done ; in the mean Time their Quota's and the Congress is evaded : What, for God's Sake, must be the Confequence of fuch Proceedings, when our All is at Stake ? Will that trite Tale of, We your Majesty's most loyal Subjects, &c. protect them from his Majefty's Displeasure? Or do they trust to the Rioters to protect them, either from that or the Enemy? Must a whole People fuffer for the Caprice of a few Affembly-men? Caprice I . call it, and have too much Reason to call it fo, and and shall ever think it such, till they are pleased to let us (in the most publick Manner) into the Reafons of their Conduct; this we have a Right to demand; but more properly they ought to give it us without demanding, as they are accountable to the People for every Step they take, and in Matters of Moment, ought not to proceed without first confulting their Conftituents. Here, Mr. Reflector, is an ample Field to expatiate in, and I would fain hope, from your pathetick Manner of Reafoning, the Eyes of the Obstinate, and Ignorant, may be opened, for their own Safety, as well as that of the Whole. I am still in the Jerfeys: We have had a long Experience of his Majefty's Lenity, how far it may extend I know not; but this I will affirm, that we have more to apprehend from a Parliamentary Scrutiny, than has as yet entered into the Heart of any of us to conceive. Can any Body imagine that this Trifling with his Majefty's Inftructions, in an Affair of fo much Confequence to the Trade and Interest of Great-Britain, and to every British Subject, will, according to the usual Cant, fave the Country's Money? Will not the Commissioners from the feveral Colonies, and it is to be hoped a Majority will attend, in the first Place confider the Danger we are in at this Point of Time? 2dly, How to prevent it now, and for the future? 3dly, Will they not make a Computation of the Expence? 4thly, Will not those very Commiffioners proportion that Expence; giving to each Colony its Quota? Does the Jerleys think to escape? This, of Courfe, will be laid before his Majefty, which, from the Fate his Instructions have hitherto met with from that Affembly, as well as from fome others, he will naturally order it to be laid before the Parliament, with whom there is no contending; and who knows, when their Hands are in, but they may take it into their Heads to lay the Foundation of a regular Government amongf mongft us, and taking it out of the Hands of the Affemblies, by fixing a Support for the Governor, and the other Officers of the Crown, independent of an Affembly? Nor can I fee any great Difficulty in the Execution of it; it is only reviving our own Revenue Acts, to continue as long as his Majefty, and his Parliament thinks proper; there is nothing new in this, it is what we have been ufed to; those Funds have been thought proper, both by the King and Subject; and the only Difference is, as to the Point of Time. That a Governor for himfelf, and the Support of the Dignity of the Government, or the other Officers in the executive Part of the Laws, and Government, fhould depend upon the Breath of a few capricious Country

Gentlemen in an Affembly, for their daily or yearly Subfiftence and Support, or whether indeed they fhall have any at all, is a Solecifm in Politicks. - AND here I shall beg Leave to conclude with another Fable.

A BO AR stood whetting his Tusks against an old Tree; the Fox, who happened to come by at the fame Time, asked him why he made those Preparations of whetting his Teeth, since there was no Enemy near that he could perceive? That may be, Master Reynard, says the Boar; but we should scour up our Arms while we have Leisure, you know; for in Time of Danger we shall have something else to do.

A WISE General has not his Men to discipline, or his Ammunition to provide, when the Trumpet founds TO A R MS; but fets apart his Times of Exercise for one, and his Magazines for t'other, in the calm Season of Peace.
