

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Tamil, inscribed on a metal plate. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the length of the plate. The script is finely etched into the surface. The metal plate shows signs of age, including reddish-brown staining and some surface wear. The text is densely packed and appears to be a continuous passage of prose or verse.

