CONSTANTINOPLE, JANUARY I.

ON the 27th ult. one of the wives of the Grand Signior was brought to bed of a Princess, who was named Moleck, or the Angelic Sultana. On the 28th was launched, in the presence of the Grand Signior, and the principal officers of the Seraglio, a large frigate. It is said the English Minister exerts his utmost political abilities for the accomplishment of a project which he has in view; the execution of which is strongly opposed by the French Ambassador.

Mittau, Feb. 14. On the 8th instant her Highness the Duchess of Courland was safely delivered of a Princess.

Dresden, March 4. The Elector received yesterday, by an Estafette, the news of the death of Prince Eugene of Dessau, Field Marshal of the Saxon Army, who died on the 2d instant, in the 76th year of his age, at his Palace at Dessau.

Copy of a Letter from the Hon. Capt. Keith Elphinston, of the Warwick, to Mr. Stephens, dated at Spithead the 7th instant.

SIR,

IHAVE the honour to inform the Board of the arrival of his Majesty's ship under my command, and of my having cruized, in company with the Edgar and Maidstone, on the station pointed out by my orders; also that on the 5th instant, having parted company from the above ships, I fell in with, engaged, and took a two-deck ship under Dutch colours (after having admonished her commander to surrender, without effect.) She is the Rotterdam, belonging to the States General, of 50 guns and 300 men, commanded by Mynheer Volbergen, eleven days from Holland, bound to the West-Indies: they had been twice attacked before this period; I had the good fortune to lose no men; the sails, masts, and rigging, are rent to pieces. I have great satisfaction in acknowledging the obligation I am under to the officers of each class.

The ship's company, notwithstanding their being young in service, are reduced in number by the several Dutch vessels we had manned and sent into port, conducted themselves with becoming spirit and activity. I am, &c.

G. K. ELPHINSTON.

Extract of a Letter from Lord Mulgrave, Captain of the Courageux, to Mr. Stephens, dated Spithead, 8th instant.

I arrived here this morning with La Minerve, a French frigate of 32 guns and 316 men, taken by the Courageux, in company with the Valiant, on the 4th of this month, about three in the afternoon, Ushant bearing east, distant 14 leagues. She had sailed from Brest on the 3d, with La Fine, L'Aigrette, and La Diligente, to cruize a fortnight off Scilly. The Chevalier de Grimouard, who commanded her, did not strike till she had been for about an hour under the fire of our broad side, within musquet-shot. From the ships being so near each other, the few shot fired by the frigate in the course of that time necessarily took place, by which the Courageux had 10 men killed and 7 wounded. The foremast, mizenmast, and bowsprit, are damaged. On board La Minerve, Mons. Andrieu, one of the Lieutenants, and 49 men, were killed, and 23 wounded, amongst whom it is with great concern that I mention the Chevalier Grimouard and his nephew Mons. Nossay, both I fear very dangerously.—All her masts were rendered unserviceable, and the hull much damaged. The Valiant parted from us in chase of one of the other frigates. The disabled situation of the prize made it absolutely necessary to two her into port.

Admiralty-Office, January 10, 1781.

Captain Dacres of his Majesty's ship Perseus, and the Fortune sloop, arrived on the 7th instant in the Downs, with the Catherina Wilhelmina Dutch East-India ship of 900 tons, from Rotterdam to Batavia, laden with large masts, and other naval stores, and having on board one hundred and thirty thousand dollars in specie. The Perseus has also taken and sent to Portsmouth the Friendship, a Dutch vessel laden with fruit.

"The Griffin and Rambler cutters have taken Le General Ville Petoux French privateer, carrying 12 guns and 56 men.

And Lieutenant Furnival, of the Nimble cutter, has taken La Subtile French privateer, of 14 guns, and 43 men."

Extract of a Letter from Plymouth Dock, January 7.

"There are 18 Dutch vessels now in the port performing quarantine, and about 60 odd Dutch prizes in all.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 1 Janvier.

LE 27 du mois dernier une des femmes du Grand Seigneur accoucha d'une princesse, qui fut nommée Molec ou la Sultane Angélique. Le 28 on lança à l'eau une grande frégate en présence du Grand Seigneur et des principaux officiers du Sérail. On dit que le Ministre Anglois emploie ses meilleurs talens politiques à faire réussir un projet qu'il a en vue, et à l'exécution duquel l'Ambassadeur de France s'oppose fortement.

Mittau, 14 Fevrier. Le 8 du présent sa Hauteffe la Duchesse de Courland accoucha heureusement d'une princesse.

Dresde, 4 Mars. L'Electeur a reçu hier par un estafette, la nouvelle de la mort du prince Eugene de Dessau, Maréchal de camp de l'armée Saxonne; il est mort le 2 du présent, dans sa 76me année, à son palais à Dessau.

MONSIEUR,

J'AI l'honneur de vous informer de l'arrivée du vaisseau de sa Majesté sous mon commandement, et de la croisiere que j'ai fait en compagnie avec l'Edgar et le Maidstone, dans l'endroit où portoient mes ordres: Que le cinq présent, m'étant séparé des dits vaisseaux, je rencontrais et pris un vaisseau de deux ponts sous le pavillon Hollandois (après avoir prévenu celui qui le commandoit de se rendre, mais sans effet.) C'est le Rotterdam appartenant aux États Généraux, de 50 canons et 300 hommes, commandé par Mynheer Volbergen; il étoit parti depuis onze jours de Hollande et il alloit aux Isles. Il avoit été déjà attaqué deux fois; j'ai eu le bonheur de ne pas perdre un seul homme; les voiles, les mâts et les agrès sont en pieces. j'ai une grande satisfaction de reconnoître l'obligation que j'ai aux officiers de chaque rang.

L'équipage du vaisseau, quoique nouvel dans le service, est réduit à un petit nombre par plusieurs vaisseaux Hollandois que nous avons pris et envoyé au port, s'est comporté avec beaucoup de zele et d'activité.

Je suis, &c.

G. K. ELPHINSTON.

Extrait d'une lettre du Lord Mulgrave, Capitaine du Courageux, à Mr. Stephens, datée à Spithead le 8 présent.

"Je suis arrivé ici ce matin avec la Minerve, frégate Française de 32 canons et 316 hommes, qui a été prise par le Courageux, en compagnie avec le Valliant le 4 de ce mois, vers les trois heures après midi, Ushant portant Est, distant environ 14 lieues. Elle étoit partie de Brest le 3 avec La Fine, l'Aigrette et la Diligente, pour croiser pendant une quinzaine de jours à la hauteur de Scilly. Le Chevalier de Grimouard qui la commandoit n'abatit son pavillon qu'une demie heure après qu'elle eut essuiee notre bordée, à une portée de fusil. Les vaisseaux étoient si près l'un de l'autre que le peu de coups que la frégate tira portèrent, et tuèrent dans le Courageux 10 hommes et en blessèrent 7. Le mât de mizaine, celui d'artimon et le beaupré en ont été endommagés. Il y a eu à bord de la Minerve Mr. Andrieu un des Lieutenans et 49 hommes tués, et 23 blessés, parmi lesquels je suis fâché de vous apprendre que le Chevalier Grimouard et son neveu Monsieur Nossay le sont très dangereusement. Tous les mâts de cette frégate sont hors de service et la coque bien endommagée. Le Valiant s'est séparé de nous pour chasser une des autres frégates. L'état et le désordre où cette prise se trouve nous a mis dans la nécessité de la remorquer jusqu'au port."

Bureau d'Amirauté, 10 Janvier. Le Capitaine Dacres du vaisseau de sa Majesté le Persé, et le bateau de guerre La Fortune arrièrent le sept présent aux Dunes, avec la Catherine Wilhelmina, vaisseau Hollandois des Indes Orientales de 900 tonneaux, allant de Rotterdam à Batavia, chargé de gros mâts et autres munitions navales, aiant à bord cent trente mille piastres en especes. Le Persé a aussi pris et envoyé à Portsmouth l'Amitié, vaisseau Hollandois chargé de fruits.

Les Cutters le Griffin et le Rambler ont pris le Général Ville Petoux corsaire François, montant 12 canons et 56 hommes.

Et le Lieutenant Furnival du Cutter le Nimble a pris la Subtile, corsaire François, de 14 canons et 43 hommes.

"Il y a maintenant dans le port 18 vaisseaux Hollandois qui sont la quarantaine, et environ 60 prises Hollandoises en tout."

Camp at the Iron Works, ten miles from Guilford Court-house, March 16, 1781.

SIR,

ON the tenth, I wrote to His Excellency General Washington, from the High Rock Ford, on the Haw-river, a copy of which I inclosed your Excellency, that I had effected a Junction with a continental regiment of 18 months men, and two considerable bodies of militia belonging to Virginia and North Carolina. After this Junction, I took the resolution of attacking the enemy, without loss of time, and made the necessary disposition accordingly; being persuaded that if we were successful, it would prove ruinous to the enemy, and if otherwise, it would only prove a partial evil to us.

The army marched from the High Rock Ford on the 12th, and on the 14th arrived at Guilford. The enemy lay at the Quaker meeting-house on Deep-river, eight miles from our camp. On the morning of the fifteenth, our reconnoitring parties reported the enemy advancing on the great Salisbury road. The army was drawn up in three lines; the front line was composed of the North Carolina militia, under the command of Generals Butler and Eaton; the second line of Virginia militia, commanded by Generals Stevens and Lawson, forming two brigades; the third line, consisting of two brigades, one of Virginia, and one of Maryland Continental troops, commanded by General Huger and Col. Williams. Lieut. Col. Washington, with the dragoons of the First and Third regiments, a detachment of light infantry, composed of Continental troops, and a regiment of riflemen under Colonel Lynch, formed a corps of observation for the security of our right flank. Lieut. Col. Lee, with his legion, a detachment of light infantry, and a corps of riflemen under Colonel Campbell, formed a corps of observation for the security of our left flank.

The greater part of this country is a wilderness, with a few cleared fields interspersed here and there. The army was drawn up upon a large hill of ground, surrounded by other hills, the greater part of which was covered with timber and thick underbrush. The front line was posted, with two field pieces, just on the edge of the woods, and the back of a fence which ran parallel with the line, with an open field directly in their front. The second line was in the woods, about three hundred yards in the rear of the first, and the Continental troops about three hundred yards in the rear of the second, with a double front, as the hill drew to a point where they were posted; and on the right and left were two old fields. In this position we waited the approach of the enemy, having previously sent off the baggage to this place, appointed to rendezvous at in case of a defeat. Lieut. Col. Lee with his legion, his infantry, and part of his riflemen, met the enemy on their advance, and had a very severe skirmish with Lieut. Col. Tarleton, in which the enemy suffered greatly. Captain Armstrong charged the British legion, and cut down near thirty of their dragoons; but as the enemy reinforced their advanced party, Lieut. Col. Lee was obliged to retire, and take his position in the line.

The action commenced by a cannonade which lasted about twenty minutes, when the enemy advanced in three columns; the Hessians on the right, the guards in the center, and Lieut. Col. Webster's brigade on the left. The whole moved through the old fields to attack the North Carolina brigades, who waited the attack until the enemy got within about one hundred and forty yards, when part of them began to fire, but a considerable part left the ground without firing at all. The Generals and Field Officers did all they could to induce the men to stand their ground; but neither the advantages of the position nor any other consideration could induce them to stay. General Stevens and General Lawson, and the Field officers of those brigades, were more successful in their exertions. The Virginia militia gave the enemy a warm reception, and kept up a heavy fire for a long time; but being beat back, the action became general almost every where. The corps of observation under Washington and Lee were warmly engaged, and did great execution. In a word, the conflict was long and severe, and the enemy only gained their point by superior discipline.

They having broken the second Maryland regiment and turned our left flank, and got in the rear of the Virginia brigade, and appearing to be gaining our right, which would have incircled the whole of the Continental troops, I thought it most adviseable to order a retreat. About this time, Lieut. Col. Washington made charge with the horse upon a part of the brigade of guards; and the first regiment of Marylanders, commanded by Colonel Gunby, and seconded by Lieut. Col. Howard, followed the horse with their bayonets; near the whole of this party fell a sacrifice. General Huger was the last that was engaged, and gave the enemy a check. We retreated in good order to the Reedy Fork river, and crossed at the ford, about three miles from the field of action, and there halted, and drew up the troops, until we collected most of our stragglers. We lost our artillery and two ammunition waggons, the greater part of the horses being killed before the retreat began, and it being impossible to move the pieces but along the great road. After collecting our stragglers, we retired to this camp ten miles distant from Guilford.

From the best information I can get, the enemy's loss is very great, not less in killed and wounded than six hundred men, besides some few prisoners that we brought off.

Inclosed I send your Excellency a return of our killed, wounded and missing. Most of the latter having gone home, as is but too customary with militia after an action. I cannot learn that the enemy have got any considerable number of prisoners. Our men are in good spirits, and in perfect readiness for another field day. I only lament the loss of several valuable officers, who are killed and wounded in the action. Among the latter is Gen. Stevens, shot through the thigh, and Gen. Huger in the hand; and among the former is Major Anderson of the Maryland line.

The firmness of the officers and soldiers, during the whole campaign, has been almost unparalleled. Amidst innumerable difficulties, they have discovered a degree of magnanimity and fortitude, that will for ever add a lustre to their military reputation. I have the honour to be, with very great respect and esteem, your Excellency's most obedient, and most humble servant,

NATHANIEL GREENE.

His Excellency Samuel Huntington, Esq; President of Congress.

O. H. WILLIAMS, D. A. General.

Published by order of Congress,

CHARLES THOMSON, Secretary.

By CHARLES Earl CORNWALLIS, Lieutenant-General of His Majesty's Forces, &c.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by the blessing of Almighty God, his Majesty's arms have been crowned with signal success by the complete victory obtained over the rebel forces on the 15th instant, I have thought proper to issue this Proclamation to call upon all Loyal Subjects to stand forth and take an active part in restoring good Order and Government. And whereas it hath been represented to me that many persons in this Province, who have taken a share in this unnatural rebellion, but having experienced the oppression and injustice of the rebel government, and having seen the errors into which they have been deluded by falsehoods and misrepresentations, are sincerely desirous of returning to their duty and allegiance, I do hereby notify and promise to all such persons (murderers excepted) that if they will surrender themselves with their arms and ammunition, at Head-Quarters, or to the Officer commanding in the district contiguous to their respective places of residence, on or before the 20th of April next, they will be permitted to return to their homes upon giving a military parole, and shall be protected in their persons and properties from all sort of violence by the British troops, and will be restored as soon as possible to all the privileges of legal and constitutional government. Given under my Hand at Head-Quarters, this 18th of March, 1781, and in the 21st year of his Majesty's Reign.

By his Lordship's Command,

HENRY BRODENET, A. D. D.

NEW-YORK, April 18.

We are informed that General Greene in his letter to the Congress gives as the principal reason for his hazarding an action with Lord Cornwallis, that it was impossible for him to procure provisions for his troops; and unless he defeated his Lordship's army that there was a prospect of the whole province of North-Carolina joining his Lordship. That the King's Standard was raised by his Lordship at Hillsborough, and 700 in one day joined it and enlisted under him.

April 25. The letters from North Carolina respecting the victory of the 15th of last month over General Greene express great encomiums on the behaviour of his Serene Highness the Landgrave of Hesse's regiment de Role, commanded by Colonel de Ruy. It composed the center of the Royal Army, charged the rebels with the courage and firmness of Caesar's tenth Legion, and obtained the universal plaudits of the brave troops on each wing of the British army. After firing only one volley they instantly rushed on in heavy and irresistible columns, bearing down and destroying all those who had presumed to call upon them for a surrender. The carnage was tremendous.

From General Orders, New-York, 25th April, 1781. The arrival of his Majesty's Ship Amphitrite with dispatches from Lieutenant-general Earl Cornwallis gives the Commander in Chief an opportunity of announcing to this part of the army, the victory obtained by the King's troops under his Lordship's orders over the rebel army in North-Carolina on the 15th of March in his Lordship's own words:

Camp at Guilford, 17th of March, 1781, "General Greene having been very considerably reinforced from Virginia by 18 months men and militia, and having collected all the militia of this Province, advanced with an army of about 5000 or 6000 men and 4 six-pounders to this place. I attacked him on the 15th, and after a very sharp action routed his army and took his cannon. The great fatigue of the troops, the number of wounded and the want of provisions prevented our pursuing them beyond the Reedy Fork the afternoon of the action."

The garrison to be prepared to fire a Feu de Joie.

L'intelligence importante ci-dessus nous étant parvenue trop tard, nous sommes obligés d'en remettre la traduction jusqu'à notre prochaine, n'ayant pas assez de tems ni de place dans celle-ci.
